

Making It Real Compared to What Stories of real people do'n real thangs'

Our ancestors
and their descendants
resisted and
rebelled against oppression
from its very onset!

The Question Is:

“How in the midst of ... death and suffering could we find so much strength to love, so much determination to live, fight on, and be free? In permanent and grueling exile, how could a people dance and create songs and art, fashion institutions of hope, bear so many children of beauty? And what now is our future...?” –There Is A River by Vincent Harding

AYA Institue invites you to join Baba Kojo's Saturday classes for children and adults. Discover and explore engaging stories about real people, who did real things, that made a difference. Join us as we learn about the deeds of our ancestors and identify new and effective ways to use the past to transform the quality of your life today.
